Abstract:

Vaughn Treude will give a presentation on the issues and challenges involved in developing software in multiple languages for an international market.

About the speaker: Vaughn Treude was an independent software consultant for fourteen years and has worked on software projects ranging from embedded control systems to database and client-server systems, and just about everything in between.

For more information on the January meeting, contact Vaughn Treude, vaughn@nakota-software.com, or see the IEEE PACN website, ieeepacn.com.

ACTING PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

First of all, my apologies for the lack of activity last month. Though I'm not currently self-employed, I still needed to straighten out my books and get my corporate taxes done. Once all that was done, I found that I had insufficient time to locate anyone to speak for April. Luckily, I had done a little preparation last year for a talk relating to the international language work I've done over the years. As far as the future goes, I will need volunteers for to find speakers for the remaining meeting. We will also need to address whether we want to do the annual picnic this year. Lane Garrett has sponsored this event for many years now, but I know how busy he's been lately. I'm not in a position to hold anything at my place, but we could always reserve a public park- providing someone is willing to step forward and take charge.

A few other issues: As we've been the only local IEEE chapter that meets through the summer months, I'd like to suggest we cancel the July and August meetings. Turnout for these meetings has historically been quite light. My other suggestion is that we close our account and put our organization's money, what's left of it, in the IEEE concentration banking account. (Where did the heck they come up with that name? :-) Also, I have not yet requested the $500 from the section, and I'm not inclined to do so, unless it looks like this group's activity will be picking up soon. Anyway, these are some things we can discuss at the Executive Board meeting before the general meeting on April 10th.

See you there!
Vaughn
